Annual 10-Week Outdoor Summer Concert Series!

For 10 weeks, the Out to Lunch summer concert series takes over the Downtown Stage. With a new artist and music genre featured each week, Out to Lunch offers the perfect mid-day break to enjoy great tunes, good vibes, and sunshine with friends and family. Throughout the 10-week season, between 2,000 and 3,000 people attend the concert series, with weekly exposure through promotions that highlight the event and its sponsors.

Sponsorships play a vital role in ensuring the Downtown Development Authority can continue this beloved summer tradition while also compensating musicians and entertainers with fair, reasonable performance fees. Out to Lunch is proudly organized by the non-profit Friends of the Iron Mountain DDA and made possible through strong community and business support. The Out to Lunch Season Sponsor receives recurring exposure through the hundreds of visitors who come downtown each Thursday for the concert series. Both Season and Concert Sponsors receive significant visibility through the DDA website and newsletter, social media, local newspapers, and additional marketing—ensuring broad community recognition and meaningful support for your business.
